

We asked young people:

“If you could give one recommendation to your teachers on how to handle bullying, what would it be?”

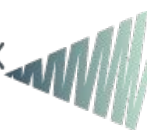

Young People told us:

Conversations with the young people involved must take place in a safe & confidential space...

Teachers should not pick favourites and should always respond to bullying, even if it's disguised as 'banter'...

Students should be aware of confidentiality and when this might be stretched...

No matter the nature, bullying requires a quick and serious response.
Whatever it is, it's important to the student.
